It's all in the planning

The consultation

Throughout the wedding planning process you'll be making some big decision and we want to make the photography as easy as it can be. A free consultation is included in every wedding package we do. These relaxed meetings give you a chance to meet us, for us to talk through any ideas you have and for you to ask any burning questions.

We will bring along examples of our packages and a selection of the extras we offer so you can see what's what and what's possible within your budget.

Talk talk!

Communication between us and you will be paramount. We are here to help in anyway we can. By just doing our job we get to see lots of weddings and we will be able to help you think about what types of photography you'd like on the day as well as timings and structure with your pictures in mind.

The shot list

This is not a list of who you want "taking care of" but a means of getting the shots you'd like taken. To help we draw up a list of the "must haves" as well as the "would be nice". On the day, plans always change but we make sure that whatever happens we all walk away with the "must haves" in the bag.

Your Big Day

On the day

We will aim to fit into your plans in order to capture the best of your Big Day! We take pride in being relaxed, yet professional and will capture images that are real and memorable of your special celebration - from “getting ready” shots to the first dance - we will aim to provide a service that you are confident in.

To help us we will call on your Best Man or Ushers to help call guests we will need in photos and to make sure all are included and no-one is left out.

On occasion we may bring along an assistant with us, this will be at no added cost to you. We believe in building up and encouraging others in their passion for photography but we are very careful to choose photographers who follow our own code of conduct. We will always let you know if this is an option.

Details, details, details.

With all the time you have taken to prepare it is important to remember and have record of all the special aspects of your day, those that make your wedding so different to others. We will therefore always take pleasure and pride in taking images of brides hair, flowers, shoes, jewellery, table settings and any other things that add to your story. Men, if there is anything special that you require - getting ready shots, detail shots - we won't leave you out either! There is always an option for “getting ready” shots for both bride and groom.

Afterwards

Your On-Line Gallery

This is the first chance you will get to see your photos. We aim to edit and complete your photos within 6 weeks of your big day. Once we are happy with them we will put them up on a password protected online gallery. We will send you all the details, including password and link for you to pass on to your friends and family, once you have enjoyed reminiscing about your special day. The online gallery is a great way for sharing your photos, but also this can be used as a hassle-free method of purchasing images. So if your Great Aunt Edna is after a photo she can order it directly through us, rather than bothering you to get it for her.

Your images on disk

When you have had the chance to look through your photos and have enjoyed reliving your day we will send you your final images on disk. These will be in a high resolution form, which means they can be printed and blown up to fit prints sizes that you require.

Extras

Although our package does not offer an album, we do offer this service to all our clients and these can be added to the base package to create a personalised package. Our albums are designed and created to a high standard and we take time in working with our clients to make sure the final design is perfect for you. We are more than happy to discuss these with you and can show you examples of our albums at your consultation. If you require any other added extras we are more than happy to discuss these with you too.

A little bit more about us

About us

We have both had passion for photography from an early age, using SLRs and compact cameras and experimenting with photography for fun and pleasure.

Since developing skill, passion and desire to follow a career in photography, we have used our photography in both personal and professional settings (portraits, weddings and corporate work - inc brochures, images resource for web sites, magazines, graphic designers and events images).

As a married couple we realise how important those special memories are. They are a record of life and memories that will last forever. Within a wedding day, families and friends gather, commitments are made and the love and happiness the bride and groom share is publicly declared. We consider it a privilege and honour being involved in such an occasion and aim to provide the best service possible, making sure memories can be relived through the images we capture.

Although we are living in Wales we provide a national service. So we are flexible and accommodating to individual needs in terms of travel, as well as providing our best photographic skills and professional approach to your wedding photography.

Going Green

Small acts equals big impact

We are striving not only to make your day memorable but also to limit our impact on the world around us. Below are some things we are doing to help that along.

Carbon offset all business miles and electricity usage

By using a Carbon Neutral Company (<http://www.carbonfootprint.com>) to work out our carbon emission we are able to offset our usage by contributing to the many great schemes they have running.

One in one out

This is a scheme we have come up with as a further commitment to reducing our environmental impact. By using the Woodlands Trust's "Plant A Tree scheme" (<http://www.carbonfootprint.com/plantingtrees.html>) we will plant one tree for every wedding album that we purchase.

Eco Packaging

We will send out all our products wrapped safely in recycled materials. Also wedding albums will come packed and placed in a reusable "bag for life".
